

The Day the Eggs Escaped

There were a dozen eggs.

The first one was named Peg.

Then there was Jimmy, Sue and Bob. Abby, John and Rob.

Then there was Kat who was kind of a snob. Willow, Ally and Mae.

And last there was Tom (he does NOT like hay).

They all lived on a farm, owned by Farmer Joe.

They lived with the chickens, the only home they know.

One day Willow got out of the hay (which Tom does not like by the way).

She said, "Come on everybody, get out of the hay, and let's go run away!"

"Nah" said Kat who was kind of a snob.

Guess who agreed with her? Sue and Rob.

But all I know is they were outnumbered, so they all had to go.

Off they went through the grass, after six long hours, they were home at last.

They talked and talked until they had to lie in bed.

Not a word or a peep, nothing that they said.